

KPMG International Case Competition Information Pack

What is KICC?

The “KPMG International Case Competition 2018” is an annual contest held by KPMG International since 2010, targeting university students from all over the world. University representative teams will analyse and propose creative solutions for dealing with issues presented in business cases drafted by the board of examiners of the national and international competitions.

This year, KPMG Vietnam & Cambodia is proud of bringing back the unique business competition to Vietnam's and Cambodia's students to select the Winning Team representing KPMG Vietnam & Cambodia from the Preliminary and National final selection round. These contests will be organized in this November 2017 to January 2018 to find the next Champion to compete with international students in the international finale KICC 2018 from 9 to 12 April, 2018 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Application Conditions

Contestants need to register in groups of 4 participants (without consideration of gender and major).

Contestants must be undergraduate students ranging from freshmen to seniors.

Besides having general knowledge of business-related subjects, a group of participants is required to demonstrate fluency in English communication skills, as well as presentation, debate and other soft skills.

Groups of students need to get approval from University's board of management to represent their school to join.

Each University can nominate only 1 team to join KICC
